FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Despite US Treasury yields increased slightly in October, Indonesia sovereign bonds traded resiliently as investors still preferred Indonesia bonds compared to peers. The USD Fixed Income Fund recorded a slight positive performance of +0.08% in October 2019. Dovish Fed policy, stable energy prices, mini trade deal between China and US has stalled another tariff hike in October and the fading of hard Brexit scenario have the making of an improved outlook for emerging market bonds in October and month to come.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Indonesia local government bond market made a positive return in October 2019 with Bloomberg Indonesia Local Sovereign Index (BINDO) went up 2.12% on monthly basis. The IDR Fixed Income Fund performance reported +1.99% return in the same month. Bank Indonesia continued accommodative monetary policy in October by cutting reference rate 25 bps to 5.00%, the fourth consecutive cuts, while inflation went down by 26 bps from previous month to 3.13% YoY in October 2019. On global side, as anticipated, the Fed announced cutting its benchmark interest rate by 25 bps to the range of 1.5% - 1.75% at the latest FOMC meeting in October. This was the third rate cut by the Fed thus far this year but indicated that the moves to ease policy could be nearing a pause. Trade tension was also calmer as mini US-China trade deal has forestalled the US tariff increase in October 2019.

On global side, as anticipated, the Fed announced cutting its benchmark interest rate by 25 bps to the range of 1.5% - 1.75% at the latest FOMC meeting in October. This was the third rate cut by the Fed thus far this year, but indicated that the moves to ease policy could be nearing a pause. Overall, the portfolio managers maintain a defensive stance as markets continue to send out mixed signals. They remain focused on capital preservation but are also allocating tactically to take advantage of opportunities arising from volatility and market dislocations. At the asset group level, the allocation to Growth assets was slightly reduced in line with the portfolio managers' defensive stance, while that to Hybrid assets was increased.
