FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

Global equities continued its decline in the month of September in response to continuing hawkish central bank comments and rising recession fears. The Fed raised rates by another three-quarters of a percentage point (75bps) in September and is expected to keep interest rates higher for longer in its fight to control inflation. The Fed signaled its intention to continue hiking rates to a terminal rate of 4.6% in 2023. Moving into the fourth quarter of 2022, there is a growing risk that the US economy could slip into a recession. Corporate earnings expectations remain too optimistic and have started and should continue to fall, adding to downside risk. The Advanced portfolios continue to underweight equities with increased allocation towards Investment Grade adopting a more defensive tilt. We have also put in place a tactical exposure to Asia Ex-Japan equities on the back of the reopening of ASEAN economies as well as ongoing policy easing and low valuations of Chinese stocks.
