FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

In December 2024, IDR Equity Fund booked negative performance of -1.92% mom, better than the benchmark performance. Global equity market including Indonesia dipped in December 2024 (IDX80 -3.15% mom). The December market weaknesses was largely due to continuing US dollar strength (Rupiah weakened again by -1.6% MoM to Rp16,102/USD in December 2024) and heightened concern over US tariff escalation on China under Trump administration. Foreign investors continued their selling spree into December 2024 as they recorded another net outflow amounting to -Rp5.0tn, decelerating compared to -Rp16.8tn in November 2024. In December 2024, Energy sector was the largest positive monthly contributor, while Transportation & Logistics sector was the largest negative contributor. Going forward, until there is clarity on new Trump administration policy direction including clarity on new US tariff implementation, market volatility may remain high. That said, we continue to believe that the potential of sustainable and structural improvement in Indonesian economy with potentially rising GDP/capita could become a positive tailwind for long-term Indonesian equity market return, as such current market weakness could offer a good market entry opportunity.
