FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

In December 2024, positions that contributed positively to our performance are our select overweight in Consumer Staples and select underweight in the Metal Mining and Bank names. Our overweight in Consumer Staples helped our performance after news of over larger than expected minimum wage increase, which will improve purchasing power in 2025. The share price of one metal Mining company that we underweight declined after it failed to meet the required price threshold to be included in the MSCI index. Meanwhile, one bank that we underweight declined during the month due to foreign outflows, elevated cost-of-funds and risks to net interest margin. Meanwhile, positions that hurt our performance are our overweight in the healthcare Sector. The IDR-USD continues to slide, depreciating by 7% on the back of continued strength in the US economy which reduced rate cut expectations. This will make procurement more expensive for healthcare players since they must import raw materials.
