FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

The managers have a more constructive short-term outlook, but medium-term concerns remain. They maintain a preference for high quality duration assets, which are likely to do well in case of a cyclical recession and offer attractive yield and upside potential. Within Defensive assets, the managers trimmed the exposure to long-dated US Treasuries and added to the front-end of the curve given the strong duration rally. They took profits from UK Gilts and rotated the proceeds towards cash. Within Yield assets, they reduced the exposure to Asian high yield bonds, trimmed the allocation to broader emerging market local currency debt position, and took profits from South African. Within Growth assets, the managers added to Japanese financials and Chinese value equities.
