FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

In March 2025, USD Adventurous Conservative Fund booked negative performance of -0.94%mom, above the benchmark by 51 bps. Global equities dipped again in March 2025 for the second consecutive month and ended 1Q 2025 in negative territory. For March 2025, across the major geographic regions in USD terms, India equities led, while US equities lagged. On the US macro front, a concerning mix of stuttering growth and rising inflation is fueling fears of stagflation. The fixed income markets rose in March 2025 for the second consecutive month. US Treasuries, Investment Grade and High Yield indices were all up in March 2025. Markets could remain volatile as market participants are assessing whether a new world order has been established, where the previous regime of globalization and free trade has been abruptly displaced by a regime where countries erect trade barriers and protectionism takes precedence. Over the short term, we remain vigilant and stay on the sidelines. This is because going into the sharp sell-off, risk taking of the Elite Funds has already been brought down and our assessment is that technical conditions remain challenged, sentiment remain depressed and thus volatility is likely to remain elevated. Equities are arguably on sale at the point of writing and the investment team is actively looking for better entry points. A rebound in risk assets could be catalyzed by policy response as past stress episodes typically see policy makers inject liquidity into the financial system. The key is to stick to a disciplined investment process, carefully weigh medium term upsides returns versus downside risks and not be whipsawed by the volatile market environment.
