FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

In March 2026, USD Global Growth Opportunity Equity Fund booked a -6.86% MoM which was above benchmark performance. Last month, Global equity markets experienced significant volatility and sharp declines in March 2026, driven by primarily by the escalating conflict in Iran and its impact on energy markets and investor sentiments. Amongst the major regions, MSCI Brazil, USA and China were the better performers while Korea and South Africa and Korea were the weakest. The rise in energy prices intensified market concerns on inflation, drove up the US 10-year Treasury yield and strengthened US dollars. Chinese equity markets showed resilience early in March but ultimately ended the month under pressure. While China is a net importer of oil, China could be relatively resilient compared to other Asian countries during the Iran conflict as China has access to energy stockpile as well as alternative sources of energy such as coal and renewable energy. We are moderately constructive on the outlook for risk assets over the medium term.
